to decide their own destiny for themselves, subject only to the Constitution of the United States."

Upon these great rights of individual setion and of public decision rests the foundation of American institutions, and if they are faithfully secured to the people of Kansas the political condition of the country will soon become quited and satisfactory. The institutions of Kansas should be established by the votes of the people of Kansas, unawed and uninterrupted by force or frund. And foreign voters must be excluded, come whence they may, and every attempt to overawe or interrupt the free exercise of the right of voting must be promptly repelled and punished. Freedom and safety for the legal one—these should be great principles of your administration.

The regular Legislature of the Territory having authorized the assembling of a convention to frame a constitution, to be accepted or rejected by Congress, under the provision of the federal constitution, the people of Kansas thorized the assembling of a convention to traine a constitution, to be accepted or rejected by Congress, under the provision of the federal constitution, the people of Kausas have the right to be protected in the peaceful election of delegates for such a purpose, under such authority, and the convention itself has a right to similar protection in the opportunity for tranquit and undisturbed deliberation. When such a constitution shall be submitted to the people of the Territory, they must be protected in the exercise of their right of voting for or against that instrument, and the fair expression of the popular will must not be interrupted by fraud or violence.

The President concars in the hope, expressed by you, that the intervention of the military force will not be necessary; but should this just expectation be disappointed, he refers you for the measures you must adopt and for the necessary authority in that emergency to the instructions heretofore given by the President of the United States and by this Department to your predecessors. Coples of these instructions accompany this communication and also copies of the instructions heretofore issued by the Prepartment and of those issued by the present Secretary of War respecting the employment of the troops of the United States upon your requisition.

You will communicate freely with this Department from time to time, so that the President may be kept in formed as to the true state of things in Kansas.

The Trouble in the Church of the Puritans Our report of the proceedings of the meeting in Dr Cheever's church on Thursday night, left off when the report of the Special Committee was under consideration self against certain charges affecting him personally. When he sat down, Mr. R. N. HAVENS commented on the

when he sad down, Mr. R. N. Harwas commented on the sophistry and special pleading of the report, on its unfair and garbled quotations from the letter of the signers of the communication to Dr. Cheever, and on its wicked persistence in asserting that the Doctor's anti-slavery sermons were the cause of their action, directly in the face of their emphatic denial. He concluded by offering the following preamble and resolutions, as a substitute for Mr. Hunt's motion to print the report.—Whereas, the Church of the Puritans claims to have superseded brethren O. E. Wood, E. M. Kingsley and J. K. Johnson from the office of deacen, herefore held by them, by its amendments of the standing rules at the annual meeting held o., the 4th day of June fast. And, whereas, the said brethren, Wood, Kingsley and Johnson, demur to the legality of the said amendments, and to the said action of the Church, professedly based thereon, and have presented their written protest, under date of July 7, 1807, against both the said amendments and action, and have asked that these differences be submitted to a mutual council to be convened in accordance with the provisions of the second standing rule, for its final settlement and adjudication; therefore.

Resolved, That for the sake of peace and Christian fellowship, this church do accede to the request aforesaid of brethren Wood, Kingsley and Johnson, and that—be a committee to arrange with them for the convening of a mutual council, and the time and place of submitting to their consideration and determination the mentiers now in difference between the church and the said brethren.

And whereas, a considerable number of the members of this church have published a statement or letter under date of July 15, 1857, addressed by them to our pastor, Rev. In. Cheever, "suggesting time expediency of his tender of his resignation of the pastorate." in which statement they have alleged as facts mailers and hereaster of our pastor, and hydrouse and prosperity of this branch of the church of Christ. And w sophistry and special pleading of the report, on its unfair nevertheless, resolved that the previous question should then be put.

Mr. P. W. King immediately moved a reconsideration, raying that he did not wish to give his brethren of the minority an opportunity of publishing to the world that their mouths had been shut.

Thereupon the church took the back track, and reconsidered and rejected Mr. Fry a call.

Several attempts were then cande to lay Mr. Havan's motion on the table, and thus to avoid a direct response to the request of the m northy for a council.

Rev. J. P. Warnes surmised that there was more in this movement than appeared on the surface; that according to congregational usage an exporte council could not be concluded that he was willing to run the risk of a circo vote on the substitute.

Mr. Charles W. Harvey hoped that the church would allow these brethren the council they asked, so that their statements might be importably considered.

But it was of no avail; the vote was taken on the substitute, and when the ayes were called for, the death like silence was scarcely broken by the faintness and solitariness of Mr. Harvey's response. The noes were neither faint nor few, and the request for a council was thus refused.

After various attempts to improve and perfect Mr. Hunt's

After various attempts to improve and perfect Mr. Hunt's resolution for printing, it was at length adopted, and just is the clock was about tolling of the departure of another day the brythren and sisters separated.

MONEY MARKET.

FRIDAY, Nov. 6-6 P. M. There was an active but not, as a general thing, such a buoyant stock market this morning as we noticed at the close yesterday. In some securities unite an improvement is reported, while others remin without material alteration. At the first board o-day Tennessee State 6's advanced 1 per cent; Virginia 6's, 4; Hlinois Central Bonds, 2; Bank of Commerce, 4; Pacific Steamship Company, 2; Delaware and Hudsen, 2; New York Central Railroad, 2; Michigan Southern, preferred, 2; Panama, 14; Galena and Chicago, 14; Cleveland and Toledo, 4. Reading opened at 33, advanced to 35, and closed at 34-an improvement of 4 on yesterday's closing prices. Brooklyn City 6's fell off 1 per cent this morning State stocks have advanced very fast for some days, and some of them are now so well up that most o the margin for improvement has been exhausted As money becomes more abundant it will seek other securities, such as first class railroad bonds, and take them up to points nearer their intrinsic value as productive investments. At the second board the market opened and closed with an upward tendency, and with more than the usual activity in operations. Tennessee State 6's advanced i per cent; Canton Company, I; Metropolitan Bank, 54; Importers' and Traders', 1; Reading, §; Michigan Southern preferred, 2; do., old, 4. Chicago and Rock Island declined & per cent. Erie closed at 14 per cent, heavy. Some of the drawers of foreign exchange have advanced their rates, without finding buyers. Most of the transactions made have been at 108 per cent. The highest points ruling are 109 a 110 per cent, but these rates are asked by houses which have no desire to draw. There are reports in the street about large shipments of specie next week. It is very likely that during the next thirty or sixty days specie will be going both ways across the Atlantic, without much gain on either side, but after that time the amount will in all probability set entirely this way. As soon as cotton begins to go forward actively the supply of sterling exchange must be largely in excess of the demand. Our importations have dwindled down to the smallest figures, and do not much more than equal our exports. When it is considered that this is the first importing port, and about the third exporting port in the country, a pretty good idea can be formed of the limited amount of our aggregate import trade. This alone will, in time, remove many of our fluancial difficulties, and place us again in a position to siquidate all our indebtedness, both foreign and domestic. The total importation for the year ending June 30, 1858. will, beyond all doubt, be more finited than has been known for many years. The total exportation will of course be less than last year, but the decrease will be in the shipment of bullion—a reduction not likely to do us much harm. If the position of our foreign trade will permit us to retain our California resulttances of gold for twelve months, the general finances of the country will be placed upon a very strong and substantial basis. The season has commenced favorably enough to ensure such a result, if the screws are not prematurely loosened. Contraction and liquidation are the only sure remedies for our difficulties, and they should be rigidly and perseveringly practiced. We understand that the Michigan Central Railroad Company have negotiated a portion of the new loan required to adjust its floating debt. The agent ent to London has raised £400,000 for that purpose. An arrangement has, we learn, been perfected between the Michigan Central and the Michigan Southern Railroad Companies in regard to charges, running, &c., that is likely to be beneficial to both roads. The folly of carrying on a ruinous rivalry is so apparent to sensible men, that when a railroad gets into good hands this difficulty is at once arranged.

The Cincinnati Gazette of the 5th inst. contains the following important railroad intelligence:—

An application was made yesterday morning in the United States Circuit Court for the district of Indiana, before Judge McLean, by Meesrs. Fuller, King & King, contractors, for an injunction against the Indiana and Illimois Central Railroad, praying that the company may be restrained from selling certain lands granted them by the Legislatures of certain States, which are now being put into market. The terms of the sale of such lands are, that forty per cent of the purchase money may be paid in the stock of the company and two per cent in cash. The injunction asked for was granted by the Court, principally upon the ground that the railroad company had no right to use the lands granted them by the several States for any other than construction purposes, and that the sales of such lands in the manner proposed was a misapplication of the original grants. The injunction was therefore granted and the sale of the lands ordered stopped.

Judge McLean delivered a long decision at Cincinnati, Ohio, on Monday, in the United States Circuit the following important railroad intelligence:-

nati, Ohio, on Monday, in the United States Circuit Court of Indiana, upon a motion to appoint a receiver for the New Albany and Salem Railroad Company, in the case of Dow Williamson, Treasurer, &c., against the New Albany and Salem Railroad Company. The judge decided:—1st. That a receiver need not be appointed simply be-cause there was a default in the payment of interest upon the bonds of the company. The law abhors a forfeiture, and would never enforce onc. 2d. The fact that the company has paid all the net earnings (saving the annual surplus) to liquidate its floating debt, did not justify the Court in holding hat this was a misapplication of the earnings; for, if that debt was contracted to finish the road, or to relay the track, then it was beneficial to the bondholders and all concerned. 3d. That the Court would not take the road out of the hands of the present managers, for it was apparent that they had ma-Court then made an order directing that in future the net earnings of the road should be applied in equal proportions to the payment of the floating debt and the interest upon bonds.

The taxable property is $106,230,-718, being an increase of ten millions over 1856. The consolidated city debt amounts to $11,800,086, matur. ing at various dates from 1858 to 1892. The Philadelphia Ledger says:—

There is no trade, probably, that has suffered more from the present crists in monetary affairs than that in anthracite cost. In the region of the mines there is great prestration, and to a large extent business is suspended. Coal operators are much stratened financially, and the miners are in large numbers unemployed. The production is but about half what it should be, the consequence of which extends with teiling effect to the carrying companies. The coal trade is very unwieldy, is moved slowly and by the use only of a large capital. It is scarcely possible at this advanced period of the season that it can be materially increased before the closing of navigation, and yet, it is leared, especially if there should be a severe wanter, that the supply will be found inadequate to the demand. In the opinion of many, the price of coal will so much advance as to give the Reading Railway, connecting with the Schuylkill mines, and the Lehigh Valley Railway, connecting with the Lehigh mines, active winter employment. At all events, it is generally conceded now that there will be little overstock in the spring, and that the trade will commence with the impetus that always attends cmpty yards at the beginning of a new season. This promises well for next year. Coal must be had, and the roads and canals connecting the mines with tidewater must be used to bring it to market. Fuel for steam purposes may not be so largely required as heretofore, but for dementic uses there will no doubt be the usual annual necessor. There is, therefore, as good a prospect for the coal trade next year as for almost any other pursuit. The Philadelphia Ledger says:-

transferred from schedule G, in the tariff of 1846, to schedule H, by force of the provision of the second section of the act of March 3, 1857, which transfers to that schedule "watch materials and unfinished parts of watches." After defining the phrase "watch movements" to be the entire watch in running erier, except the outer case and crystal, the Secretary holds that the tariff act of 1846 provided for "watches and parts of watches" and "watch materials" in schedule G. The second section of tariff act of March 3, 1857, transfers from schedule G to schedule H "watch materials and unfinished parts of watches." The designation in schedule G embraced "watches," which materials, and parts of watches," finished and unfinished. "Watch materials" and "unfinished parts of watches" obeing transferred to schedule H, "watches and parts of watches," other than "unfinished parts" are still left in schedule G, liable to a duty of eight per cent.

has been the large sales made by the auction houses. First we had the large sale of cotton cloths manufactured by the Atlantic mills, which were disposed of for cash. This sale occurred on the 3d instant. On the 5th a special sale of French goods was held, at a credit of four months, which drew a good company, chiefly city buyers, while the bidding was spirited; but the goods, on an average, sold under the asking prices and from thirty to forty per cent below the current prices before the panic. Both of the foregoing sales we have already noticed in the Herald. Yesterday Messes. Wilmer-dings & Mount held a large special sale of French goods of the importation of Messrs. Benkard & Hutton. The terms were six months' credit, with approved endorsed notes payable in the city of New York, and an allowance of 6 per cent for cash, all sums of $100 or under to be paid in cash. The catalogue embraced 864 lots, including merino cloths, mousseline de laines and rich striped and plaid ombre mousseline de laines and rich striped and plaid ombre do., Saxony and merino plaids, figured and satin striped merino cloths, tigured and striped merino cloths, with a large variety of rich patterns merino cloths, with a large variety of rich patterns and styles of silk dress goods and stuffs. The sale drew a full house, including both city and out of town buyers; it wanted, however, the animation which such a catalogue would have produced early in the season, and notwithstanding the goods were sold at a credit of six months, the average of the sale exhibited a decline of from 30 a 35 per cent below the prices current early in the season, or before the panic. The goods which sold best consisted of merino cloths and the desirable styles of mousseline de laines, which only made a loss of about 20 a 25 per cent; and those which exhibited the heaviest failing off were stuff goods, robes, dress and fancy goods. A which only made a loss of about 20 a 25 per cent; and those which exhibited the heaviest falling off were stuff goods, robes, dress and fancy goods. A good many lots of this class were pressed during the sale. The shawls are to be sold to-day. It is now getting late in the season, and many importers, from the unhinged state of the times, will feel compelled to hold their stocks of staple goods over for another year. The above sale was contemplated to have been held early in September, but it was postponed on account of the panic, which, each succeeding week, grew worse; and the sale yesterday was the first large one made since the panic set in, at 6 months' credit. Very few orders have gone out to France supplies. Staple cotton goods, although much de-pressed, stand up when sold at auction much better than might be expected, when compared to sales of foreign goods, and especially of fancy stuffs and dress

Fresh meat is down a trille in price this week, due partily to the low price cattle brought at Allerton's last week, but principally because at this time of the year three are large sales of salt meats and pork to families for goods, and some that had been previously sent out from New York have been withdrawn. Manufacturers in Europe who have consigned goods to this market will suffer losses, should they attempt to force them off at auction. The depression in the trade was in a fair way of being severely felt in France, as well as in England and Germany; so that nearly all classes in each country are likely, directly or indirectly, to feel its effects. The jobbers have been doing a little better the present week, though the business is irregular and far less active than was observable at the same period last year. The truth is, that the panic, however caused, has had the effect, in a a great measure, to destroy the fall trade; coming, as it did, in the very heart of the business season, the pressure has been severely felt. The collections improved some, as exchanges in the interior became better regulated. Some dry good houses have received remittances in produce, as previously noticed, by which means the heavy premium demanded for gold and drafts on New York, have been equalized. The export trade in cotton piece goods was limited. Spinners, in some sections of the country, have made small purchases of yarn cotton to replenish short supplies. Staple cotton goods, although much depressed, stand up when sold at auction much better. Fresh meat is down a trifle in price this week, due reasonable rates. Apples will be cheaped his season than usual and very fine-much better than they were last winter. Oranges are also very cheap. They sell for $6 per bbl., while this time last year, they were worth $5 to $10 per bbl. They come from Havana. The following are the
